December 20, 2007 Deadline

The Instructional Computing Center (ICC) revises, upgrades, or installs new software in the computer classrooms and outlying labs once a year, at the start of each fall semester....Academic departments will need to propose software changes for 2008-09 to their dean before the last day of fall semester classes, December 20, 2007. Faculty may test the proposed software configuration (“image”) during the last four weeks of the spring semester 2008. -- from Israel Cruz memo to academic deans and chairpersons, August 16, 2007

Let me know if you want me to email a copy of Israel's memo to you.
